A small step beyond “Hello, World!”
I started with C to build a fundamental understanding of how to think through code.
To share, manage, and keep track of my progress, I’ve also begun exploring Git and GitH... more printf("hello world!");

This is Surya, a 1st-year B.Tech CSE student at KLH Bachupally campus.
I am excited to say a few words in my first post her announcing the beginning of my journey in the fie of engineering.
Fresh out of senior secondary, I don't want to sour too corporate already, so starting off on a humoro note, I want to share an observation of mine regarding coding and programming: nobody seem to mind plagiarism in this field!
With that subtle humorous approach aside, continuing with the purpose of this post, I'd like to say:... more

About

CSE fresher from KLH-B. I don't chase titles or hype. I look for hard problems and stay with them longer. I'm early in my career and I know it, still willing to take the hits, and still open to being corrected as long as it makes me sharper. Open to opportunities where effort is expected and excuses are not.
Results over noise.
